Ethereal Sight. The reaper can see 60 feet into the Ethereal Plane when it is on the Material Plane, and vice versa.

Misty Shapeshifter. The reaper can use its action to polymorph into a black mist or back into its true form, which is humanoid. Its statistics, other than its AC, are the same in each form. Any equipment it is wearing or carrying is also transformed. It reverts to its true form if it dies. While in mist form the reaper cannot attack, and its armor class is 25. Slashing, piercing, and bludgeoning that isn't magical can't hurt the reaper while in mist form.

Shadow Stealth. While in dim light or darkness, the reaper can take the Hide action as a bonus action.

Eternal Demise. A creature slain by the reaper can't be brought back to life by magic, spells, wishes, or any other means.

Vengeful Tracker. The reaper knows the distance to and direction of any creature against which it seeks to kill, even if the creature and the reaper are on different planes of existence. If the creature being tracked by the reaper dies, the reaper knows.

Soul Rejuvenation. If the reaper kills a creature, it gains hit points equal to the slain creature's maximum hit points.

Magic Weapons. The reaper's weapon attacks are magical.

Legendary Resistance (3/Day). If the reaper fails a saving throw, it can choose to succeed instead.

Magic Resistance. The reaper has advantage on Saving Throws against spells and other magical effects.

Devil's Sight. Magical darkness doesn't impede the reaper's darkvision.

Actions

Horrifying Visage. Each non-undead creature within 60 feet of the reaper that can see it must succeed on a DC 15 Wisdom saving throw or be frightened for 1 minute. A frightened target can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, with disadvantage if the reaper is within line of sight, ending the effect on itself on a success. If a target's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the target is immune to the reaper's Horrifying Visage for the next 24 hours.

Death Touch. Melee Spell Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one creature. Hit: The target takes 25 (3d12+7) necrotic damage, and the reaper gains hit points equal to the damage dealt.

Death Scythe. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 45 (3d12 + 27) slashing damage. If the target is a creature other than an undead or a construct, it must succeed on a DC 17 Constitution saving throw or lose 25 (3d12+7) hit points at the start of each of its turns. Each time the reaper hits the wounded target with this attack, the damage dealt by the wound increases by 10 (2d10). Any creature can take an action to magically heal the wound ending the effect until they are hit with the attack again.

I know we have always had humans to be the baseline, with all the other breeds obtaining penalties or bonuses based on how to compare themselves with humans. You need more data! Greetings! The change in wisdom that has an effect on the quantity of prepared spells is probably a good thing, but I personally find it a bit frustrating. The low wisdom has only limited its options rather than making it less powerful. This is 222% stronger, and it only becomes more extreme. Keep life heals level 5 * and takes action, it can only heal the characters up to half of their HP, but it can spread healing in precise numbers between more allies. The bonus action is rapidly transforming into action less than 5 A *, but with a different name and only for attacks, and heals. I'm not sure why they made the second wind can be activated at will. It is actually quite a bit of changes to the orthographic versatility, if not at the level of total power. A +1 more wide possibilities to land your hard spells and a blow to the meeting, on the other hand, is worth buffer! Page 3 Right, but perhaps in testing the +2 bonus was not comparing quite well for charmers against a company. It may not be great than a percentage of your success points as at level 1, but the same is true for damage and other healing sources, as care spells. But consider - for a martial class, a bonus for the statistics of primary combat will increase the attack * and * damage. Last modified: June 23, 2014 Yes, whoever would ever want to human competitors to Ubermensch's races, I want humans to be competitive, what I don't want is that humans are better statistically than all other races. 4. As for the affected nuts, I agree with their decision not to use them to feed the second wind. This way no matter what a particular non-dead has gone in terms of anything specific eg. H.P., CR, HD, etc.; Look at his general difficulty as expressed by how many XPs you get to defeat one against it. If you add +1 to the entire array you get 16/15/11/13/11/9, such as The human fighter had. I don't think so ... I think it's from +1 to five statistics, you're not. Spamming according to wind is not a real problem, if the DM allows the party to rest for hours at a time after every fight without problems, they are wrong. It is already so important, I can't say that I am enthusiastic about this. The dwarves, and only the dwarves, get the comelicity! My half-orc is raised. Everything that we know is what he does from levels 1-5. Given the possibility of creating only your background, which was present throughout the game test, in various forms; With this, the free choice seems almost redundant). This would mean that in the end all banal magic are available. The default array is 14,8,13,10,16,12. I'm not still willing to bet again. "You can prepare a number of spells equal to your level + your judgment modifier" - This cleric can choose to prepare up to four spells at level 1, plus the two domain spells are always available. ===== Like others have, I also noticed the reference to CR; I thought it was completely gone from 5e. They still have +1 to all statistics. And further cancer at level 4. [*] The UNDead destruction clause is now activated by CR, not max HP. If standard array: 15,14,13,12,10,8 Human Get +1 to all: 16,15,14,13,11,9 Dwarves gets + 2 / + 1: 16 , 15 , 14, 13,12,10,8 ( +1,  +2) Speculation of course, but does not necessarily mean that humans lost +1 to all good that would be true, except you have given dwarfs 7 statistics not 6. A gigantic animated skeleton could have a load of HP boats but should be easier to destroy through the turn of a Lich with less HP. Oops! I just had a confirmation from someone who was in the private Playtest: the dwarfs get +2 to a statistic, +1 to the other. So the human being Being almost agile or as an intelligent elf, or almost resistant as a dwarf or almost strong and charismatic like a dragonn but are not just quite equal but close to them. Many things are not useful for more information 3. I said volunteable, not usable every round. Right, but perhaps in testing the +2 bonus was not comparing quite well for the enchanters against a company. Yes. As far as I believe the second wind while it is currently (unless it is vitality and injured, restores vitality as rational designers will take place), I agree with you. Greetings! Ok, so it's all over but the cry ... except the mountain dwarfs got the wisdom that pushed the hill dwarf playtest. If so that things are now, certainly will have more accepted for humans getting +1 to all statistics. I like it like the cleric and the fighter can play cards together and none of the two mix well because their dex is so ugly! So doing some reverse engineering and checking with the playtest, the collected dwarfs get +1 with and +1 str. According to wind heals 1D10 + level and takes a bonus action (minor) but it can only address the fighter. 10.5) It can easily turn a low-level creature or character, but a magic 9-level missile (11d4 + 11, AVG. Bad Design in this context is when something is not fun at the table. I want fighters. They have cute, yet plausible things. This is the problem with the grouping resistance in HP, produces modules that are devoidably there to support other playstyles, to expose the underlying structural defects of wound injuries and resistance in a number in a number in First, so giving HP restoration ability to all types of characters if it makes sense or not. At level 10, the fighter gets 1D10 + 10, average of 15.5.5, while the cleric gets 50. Cantrips (2) . We will only have to wait until the 3rd before knowing it Having been better represented with TEMP HP, but the replacement of HP Lost makes less accounting, so it is acceptable. Many classes will try to make sure they get at least one bonus action for / Turn, where before they had no reason. Greetings! If this is true, and I'm not claiming to be lying à €
