Your makeovers will look best if you: upload a clear, focused and well lit photo without glasses and with no hair on your face or neck choose hairstyles where the celebrity/model has the same face shape and skin tone as your uploaded photo. Older Women Over 70 Over 60 Over 50 Over 40 Shags Pixies Bobs Thin Hair Thick Hair Round Faces Layered Bangs Page 2Feathery hair with layering can make any short haircuts for 60-year-olds look more defined and textured. This classic pixie bob is a short feathered cut for women your age, and is very low-maintenance and can add body to your hair.The best short haircuts for women in their sixties are versatile like a round pixie bob, for example. Eyebrow-skimming bangs can be flattering as they camouflage maturing lines and if you have fine straight hair this will make creating your style and refreshing over the course of time, easy breezy.A short sleek bob with swoopy front layers is a great choice for a short and classy look. If you may be getting older and want a cut that is easier to style, your best option is a short, layered bob cut. The layering in the nape provides support to add natural volume to your crown. We love to make it more exciting with a swoopy bang or face frame. Blow dry your front with a round brush in the opposite direction you want it to fall to create volume and a nice swoop.Try a classic bob paired with bangs for a sophisticated hair style. This hairdo can be super flattering because it gives you an instant style without having to do too much every day. When you have a shorter haircut it helps your hair have more volume and a healthy look because you are losing all that excess length. Having healthy-looking hair is an added bonus because it will make you look younger.A graduated choppy bob on your silver hair might just be the cut you are searching for. A choppy bob with a graduated nape is flattering for most face shapes and age groups and can make your neck appear longer. If you have fine hair apply a hair volumizer before you blow dry. Dry your hair with your hands or a round brush, then try curling with a 1-inch iron, leaving your ends straight. Finish by running your hands through, for a wonderful and messy style.A recent crowd favorite is a neck-length cut that showcases defined curls. If you have been seeking something similar bring some photos of inspiration and allow your hairstylist to experiment with this look on you! Diffusing or air dry, this style can be replicated using a styling brush or the tools attached to your hands, as your fingers can help define the style of your curls.Consider a mini shaggy wolf cut for your next short hairdo if you are a wash-and-go type of gal. This 'do is simple yet trendy, it's wispy, edgy, and feminine. When and if you decide to style, add a blow-dry cream like Eufora Behave for an added hold to this no-fuss cut. Take pictures like this one to your stylist to give him or her inspiration on how to cut your hair.Consider a low-maintenance soft spiky pixie. If your hair texture is fine, a soft spiky pixie will give your strands more body and texture. Pixie haircuts are easy to style but to keep up with the short length you must get frequent trims at the salon. Using texture paste is key to styling the messy spiky layers.When considering shorter haircuts for oval faces, a gray cropped pixie could be your haircut. Whether you are sparking naturally or not, this is no longer reserved for just seniors. Add some highlights and it can be made up to look youthful and dimensional. Sterling silver or charcoal gray, the palette can be customized to your preference.The latest edition to the pixies family has elevated to a liec cut, aka a long pixie. A unique, short haircut will showcase a lot of volume with crown layers. Great for thick hair if you are wanting to de-bulk while maintaining a flattering silhouette. Can also be great for women over 60 that are seeking a style that gives body yet is versatile in length.One of the best short haircuts for a woman in her sixties is a textured bob paired with short bangs. Stylists experienced in razor cutting may use the razor technique because it creates added movement and light layers in bob haircuts. Whether you dye your hair or rock your natural color, a fresh youthful bob haircut will always make you feel vibrant.One way to freshen up your look is to try a white pixie for your naturally curly hair. Rocking your natural white or gray hair with the short hairdo will help your curls thrive, especially if you utilize a curl-enhancing product such as Fingtone by R Co. For added softness and elegance, keep your hair longer around your ears and on top.One of the most popular short haircuts for women over 60 is a bob with wispy layers. If you are a woman trying to drop some years instantly, then this cut is the best choice for you. Removing extra weight/length in your hair immediately gets rid of years' worth of age in your face. For thinner hair, eliminating that dead weight, can also add more body and create an illusion of thickness.A short tousled bob paired with long side bangs is a stylish way to boost volume in your fine hair. When it especially comes to short haircuts, be sure to consider your face shape. Oval or long faces benefit from short layers in the short bob as it creates a bit of added volume on the sides. For round or wider faces, consider incorporating a long side bang.If you have grey hair, a wavy swept-back style is a glamorous hairstyle, especially for women over 60 with short hair. Keep the sides short and tight against your head with longer layers on top to add volume to your crown area. To style your locks, work in a thickening mousse such as Rodeo Star by R Co to your damp hair and blow dry curling back using a small round brush. Finish with a medium-strength hairspray to control your flyaways. If you're unsure about which products to use, consult with your hairdresser.A graduated pixie haircut is an excellent choice if you're looking for an easily styled look. If you are embracing your graying hair, adding in some highlights will help blend your color into your hairstyle.A long blonde pixie combined with shorter layers is the most common haircut for older ladies like you. Very short hair is best styled with a texturizing spray, to help add more volume and to give your hair a little more hold. A long pixie is made to be feminine by side-swept bangs, pointed edges around your ears and neckline, and more volume.Try a super trendy short hairstyle if you're a woman over 60. It's a beautiful neck-length inverted bob on straight hair paired with a fringe. A bright, short youthful hairstyle like this can work on any face shape. Plus, the angle makes this cut look more feminine for women in their 60s.Walk on the wild side with edgy choppy layers. When you're an older woman, chopping your tresses is one of the best hairstyles you can get for a more youthful appearance. Long hair can drag you down and make you look older in some cases. Red hair color does come with high maintenance so if you're not ready to spend more time at the salon, I would avoid such a vibrant color.This short haircut is a one-length bob with short layers and side bangs. I would recommend a short layered bob if you're an elderly lady who wants a fun and easy hairstyle to maintain! I recommend highlights with this type of cut to help accentuate the layers if you want to grow out your natural gray hair color. If you need a brush to use for blowouts, any boar bristle round brush gives great tension and helps smooth out your hair. This layered one-length bob haircut is an all-around great cut for women over 60 who want to cut their hair short, but not too short. I usually recommend these types of haircuts for women in their 60s who have a round or oval-shaped face, but talk to your stylist and see what they recommend!Click here to see different types of haircutsOne of the best short haircuts for women over 60 is with a round face is a short bob with face-framing. When going short, this type of tapered short cut is easy to put together, grows out well on salt-and-pepper hair, and gives a lift in your crown and a beautiful framing around your face. This short hairstyle has the best of both worlds - shortness on the neckline for coolness and height for the crown. The angle along the jawline on this short bob is becoming from a side view.Consider short curls if you want to show off your natural color and texture. This short hairstyle will lighten up your face. Don't forget to finish your silver hair off with a curl cream to make your curls extra bouncy and airy!Blended layers are best fitted on finer densities and smooth to wavy textures. This technique will add volume and texture to your hair that can be created through styling methods like hot tools and product aid like styling wax.Pair a short pixie with a side part to add liveliness to your otherwise limp hair. Adding texture to your hair versus laying it polished are some ways to wear it in-between days of styling.A variation of side bangs, long fringe, or face framers is optional based on your face shape. Keep in mind, that fringe maintenance around your glasses can create frequent stops into the salon.Lots of women over 60 like to keep their natural salt and pepper hairstyle. If that's you, then this is a great haircut that will complement your natural color. It's a classic look that's easy to style. With some short cuts, you can always add sassy side-swept bangs to add more youthfulness to your look.This is perfect for women over 60 who are getting older but still working and need a more professional hairstyle.A long pixie can be a fun style if you're an older woman with silver hair. Switching up the typical pixie by leaving length around your face will create a more trendy style. Ask your stylist to cut the fringe to suit your face shape. The long pixie is easy to style using a blow dryer and your fingers or a brush to add volume. Always finish your style with a paste or pomade to show off the texture of the cut.Adding a side part to a short feathered bob works great for a woman over 60 because it highlights the eyes and cheekbones. The layers on this bob sweep up and away from your face, giving it a natural facelift. A deep side part works great on most face shapes and you can play with which side and how deep to part depending on your bone structure.One of the coolest short hairstyles for older women over 60 is a long pixie with layers and longer feathered bangs. It's great because it can hide forehead wrinkles and will take away the numbers from your age!For women over 60 with wavy hair who ask me to give them a wash-and-go cut, I give them a bob with blended layers. Additionally, blonde hair coloring will help your natural gray coloring grow in as well.A short tapered hairstyle is super sassy! A really short cut can be proof that you can rock short blonde hair. Very short hairstyles for women over 60 with glasses can still be feminine. Try to add more depth and texture to your super short haircut by adding choppy layers around your tapered nape.Mature women can add more dimension to a smooth short wavy bob by getting a golden balayage on their natural brown hair! This easy-to-style and current chin-length haircut will help most 60-year-old women take a few years off their age.Ladies over 60 who come and see me at the salon often will ask what's a simple way to look younger. I often recommend adding some highlights. Silver highlights on dark brunette hair look sassy and modern and will give you a younger look. Cutting it asymmetrically as a bob into a tapered cut makes the whole look really fashionable, and it can be used to frame your face as well to distract from a long face shape.Go for a graduated bob with razored layers. Razored cut give flawless lines which allow for easy styling that will just fall into place. I've found that this short style works well on all hair types for women in their 60s. But, especially hair that is medium to fine with a slight bend to it. A minimal product, just a bit of Aveda Phomollient and spray shine to really add shimmer to your hair when it moves. Flat brush for a straighter look or round brush for more fullness. It looks great on women with a slimmer face and neck. You can really showcase this cut with dimensional highlighting or on your natural gray hair, as you notice on the model in the picture. This golden blonde, classic wedge cut is perfect for older women looking for a short haircut. A golden blonde cut and color is a versatile, elegant short haircut for thick hair done with rounded graduation to flow with the shape of your head. Short haircuts are best for women your age, to make your hair look thicker and more voluminous as you age. A short crop style can work on a square jaw, oval face, and also a rectangle shape face. The ease of styling is done mostly with a round brush and a blower.Related: See more wedge haircuts for women over sixty.A lightly curved bob is one of the classiest short hairstyles for women over 60. The color of this shorter-length blonde hairstyle is one that everybody goes for, without being too dull. As for the cut, short hair is something you really have to want! Some older women think it's the easy way out, but styling short hair does still take time.The best part of this short stacked bob is the body it gives women in their sixties more shape to the cut! Consider asking your stylist to create a short angled bob haircut so it stacked a little more. Being a woman over 60 with fine hair or thinning hair, this haircut creates weight and gives an illusion of fullness.When I have to choose from curly short haircuts for women over 60, I often choose a Deva Cut short bob. Transform your gray bob to a more natural brunette to take away the grey tone and create bouncy curls. Whether you're 60 and up or younger, understanding your natural curls can be liberating and empowering. Educating older women curly hair with the proper product and technique is key.The blunt bob is one of the more classic short haircuts for women over 60. A short-to-medium haircut can also have an edgy effect, depending on how it's worn. With the bluntness of the cut, follow the jawline either at the jaw or just below depending on the effect/edginess wanted while taking your face shape into consideration. A short blunt cut bob looks amazing on my older clients and always gets compliments, but keeping it looking good does take some styling. Keep longer layers in the interior of your cut to add texture and give movement. If you have a lot of thick hair, consider getting an undercut bob. Taking the top layer too short can make it look "stacked" and can take away from the blunt look that we all love.A flawless cut for thick hair is the perfect combination. This cut keeps the width around your cheekbones area. The clever layering softens your thick ends to sit in a neat bob shape. Discuss with your stylist the optimal length for your features.This is a gorgeous short-a-line bob with natural highlights. It's slightly stacked in the back and angled in the front. If you're a woman with straight hair, this sassy cut is perfect for you. The A-line bob is one of the best short haircuts for women over 60 because it can be personalized from woman to woman, depending on the severity of the angle and the stacked layers. This cut is great if you have a round or oval face shape.This extra short cut is an ear-length edgy layered gray pixie cut with a razor. The thing I love most about this gray hairstyle is how easy it is to style a tapered pixie. Finger dry and make piecey with pomade. This short haircut is slightly bold for edgy ladies over 60 with white hair who embrace their age and beauty. You have to own it if you want to cut your hair short with short sides! This style looks best on an oval-shaped face and works with straight or wavy hair.
