I am not sure what changed? The whole production was horrible, very disorganized and amateur, messy production. The production consisted of crookedly placed photos on the screen, with no apparent theme. With high priced tickets and difficultly parking, we were expecting a beautiful show, as in we have experienced in the w. This show was nothing like we expected. It was horrible. Poorly done. And definitely not worth the ticket price and effort. I did we pay the high ticket price to view crookedly placed photos of fashion on a large blurry screen. The Last Supper, was a blurry crookedly placed photo misplaced on the screen! The whole production was painful to sit through, as we kept watching, hoping it would get better. It just got worse! HORRIBLE!!!Written February 13, 2025This review is the subjective opinion of a Tripadvisor member and not of Tripadvisor LLC. Gorgeous displays of local art works, lovely places to sit, relax and have a drink or snack.Then into the main outdoor theatre for the show and what a show it is. I've never been before but thoroughly enjoyed it. I read complaints about the seats. My husband didn't come because of the bad seat reviews. The seats are just fine.I think some people just like to complain. I thought it was an interesting history of fashion.This review is the subjective opinion of a Tripadvisor member and not of Tripadvisor LLC. If you have, I feel badly for you and anyone accompanying you. What you will be experiencing will not be what you expect from years' prior or what you may have heard from seasoned Pageant fans. Most all attendees from our performance on the 25th of July (including us) never clapped at anything we saw, none of it was worthy of any praise or performance recognition. At least one-quarter of the attendees left at intermission (including a couple from San Diego seated to our right who have faithfully attended the Pageant of the Masters over the last 40 years and are now considering never returning). We stuck it out thinking the performances couldn't get any worse, we were so wrong. I should have taken note of the fleeing audience and fled with them - we could have at least salvaged part of our night.What could have been an intriguing premise (fashion beginning from the Greco-Roman era through the lens of master portraits and sculptures) devolved into a poorly executed live 60's "no fashion" runway show, strange live performances with a poorly clad Edith Head, weird poorly choreographed dancing scenes, disconnected and ridiculous slide shows of the 60's London street scene, still photos of the Queen of England and well as the current King that were totally unnecessary, as were the frozen (no movement at all) tableau performances of the old masters. Going to the Getty Center and/or the Getty Villa or any other museum followed by dinner and drinks overlooking the ocean in Malibu (or even Laguna Beach) would have been infinitely more enjoyable. This year's Pageant of the Masters was a huge disappointment to say the least! Like so many other 1-star reviews on other sites, I also want my money back! Forget the 5-star reviews, they are most likely paid influencers or family members/friends of the Board, cast and crew. Look to the real 1-star and 2-star reviews for an objective opinion. I'm sorry I didn't do that before we purchased our tickets - and I promise you I will never make that mistake again.I loved the original Pageant of the Masters - it was a feast for the eyes. The curtain would open revealing a perfect replica of an old master - frame and all - then after a few minutes of allowing you to study the old master it would literally come to life with a slight movement or repositioning of the people in the portrait who would then move back into the position as painted by the master painter (take your pick, Michelangelo, da Vinci, Rembrandt, van Gogh, Vermeer, etc.) - it was fascinating to watch and to listen to the clapping and cheers of the audience! You were in awe of each scene. Why and how the Pageant devolved into this lackluster, disconnected, disrespectful, fashion disaster is beyond belief... I just wanted to see old masters come to life, not some off, off, off, off-Broadway poorly written poorly cast slide-show filled play.We traveled from the Bay Area just to see this year's Pageant and may never go back again, it was that awful. I will forever remember the 2024 performance as the "Pageant of the 'NO' Masters". I hope the board that approved this year's theme and those that executed it step down they deserve no accolades and certainly earned none.This review is the subjective opinion of a Tripadvisor member and not of Tripadvisor LLC. The show was unique and interesting. The artwork area was wonderful. There is fast food and an outdoor restaurant. There is a band and plenty of tables and chairs outside. There is an orchestra for the show.This review is the subjective opinion of a Tripadvisor member and not of Tripadvisor LLC. Have seen 2 times in past years, and this was my favorite. Love the film themes, Hitchcock film history. Theme was art of fashion. Fascinating history. Well written. Live orchestra is great. Weather was great. Keep in mind staff will shine a flashlight on you if they see your lighted phone during performance. Recommend binoculars really helps one appreciate the details. Did not need blanket maybe a light jacket. The models volunteers are working hard for your entertainment!This review is the subjective opinion of a Tripadvisor member and not of Tripadvisor LLC. The restaurant is TERRIBLEThe only reason I'm giving this rating is the restaurant experience we had at the pageant. Do NOT eat at the restaurant on the grounds of the pageant. It was by far the worst restaurant experience we had while we were visiting S California. Service=0, Food=-1, Price=-0. We were served EXPIRED (by 7 months) cans of coke (2 times!) When the "good" coke finally came out, those who ordered it were done with their meal. Two in our party ordered Ceviche, and when they came out, they were 2 different sizes! Three people of the 8 people arrived a few minutes later than the others, and sat there over for over 1/2 hour before they were given water. I ordered iced tea-they were "out". The salads were mediocre at best. We ordered an appetizer of meatballs (3), wedge salad, pasta, and one drink. The cost was $105, and we didn't even get the option of the tip amount. I know it wasn't the waitress's fault for the kitchen issues, but her service was abysmal. The manager wasn't much better. He stood around talking while ignoring the issues at our table. I truly expected a quality experience given the atmosphere of the Pageant of the Masters. The Pageant itself was very good, though I was disappointed they didn't do more statues. The jewelry depiction at the end was awesome. The artists and artwork were amazing.This review is the subjective opinion of a Tripadvisor member and not of Tripadvisor LLC. In 2023 however, it was the absolute worst performance I've ever attended. No "life" to the show. No movement after they've "set". An utter waste of performance space and stage work talent that provided an underperformed art exhibit.This review is the subjective opinion of a Tripadvisor member and not of Tripadvisor LLC. Just wished I had taken seats closer to the stage for a better view. But more important, the presentation and work they all put together is out of this world...not sure of any other experience like this nearby. This 90-minute performance brings famous works of art to life on the stage. Taking place at the Festival of Arts grounds in Laguna Beach, audiences are amazed by tableaux vivants ("living pictures"), incredibly faithful re-creations of classical and contemporary works of art, with real people posing to look exactly like their counterparts in the original pieces.
