Topping off our list is an android emulator that deserves the #1 one spot not only because it is indeed completely free, but also because it is the best there is. While relatively newer to the market and maybe not with the same resounding name as our other entries, LDPlayer does a wonderful job of breaking the barrier between mobile and PC gaming. In addition, such a powerful android emulator can enhance your Android gaming experience regardless of processor provider, assuring the very high quality of your game.
